

The Handwritten Note Sets You Apart

While most of us appreciate the speed and convenience of e-mail and phone contact, the handwritten note stops the world for a moment and sets you apart as one who takes the time for genuine contact.

A sincere thank you, a word of encouragement, remembering special moments shared – they're just a few of the reasons to take a moment to write a personal note – with a pen – in your own hand – on a note card.

Especially in the quick-contact world of business, the personal note introduces an element of charm, style and warm connection that is appreciated and remembered. Countless successful business men and women make it their personal habit to write several notes a day to say “good to see you yesterday”, “enjoyed the article about your company”, “thanks for the order”, or “It was such a pleasure to meet with you.”

Whether you're sifting through office mail or reaching into your home mailbox, the presence of a simple, thoughtful handwritten note delivers an enduring impression and a uniquely sophisticated charm.

LuxeEuro is delighted to present our new collections of “Euro” note cards, each designed to deliver the color, warmth and charm of the European countryside or village market, the handsome wine cellar or fine architecture. We invite you to enjoy and share them with your friends and business acquaintances. Your thoughtful notes will be received with pleasure.
